DOI Waiver Letter In ERU File

Dear Mr. Helms:

The first national headquarters conference of the Emergency Petroleum and Gas Administration (EPGA) is scheduled for March 7 and 8 at the Washington Shoreham Hotel. This conference will be the most important to date dealing with our preparedness posture in petroleum for Limited War or General War.

The conference is primarily for EPGA members of the Headquarters Unit--about 100; however, there will also be in attendance about 100 others representing the Foreign Petroleum Supply Committee, its Security Subcommittee, EPGA Regional Administrators, personnel assigned to the standby NATO oil organization, company security officers and other Federal agencies.

The EPGA is Interior's standby emergency organization for petroleum (oil and gas), briefly explained by the enclosed booklet "What is the EPGA." The Foreign Petroleum Supply Committee is composed of 20 international oil companies who may be called upon if needed to formulate and recommend a program of oil supply to meet emergency needs. Its Security Subcommittee is composed of some 35 top qualified oil men with Top Secret clearance who are used to make special classified studies for the Department of Defense under various assumed conditions of emergency.

Representatives and EPGA reservists from industry are all of high executive level, including some presidents and board chairmen.

We extend our cordial invitation to you to provide a speaker to address this distinguished group at 9:30 a.m., March 7. Since this group has a definite need to know current conditions in tense and troubled areas where intelligence and understanding play an important role, a pertinent and timely message from your agency will contribute substantially to their training and dedication to serve our government as the need arises.

A tentative agenda is enclosed. We earnestly hope you can provide a speaker.

Sincerely yours,
